If the advertising we are now doing does not sell a great deal of Schilling's Best tea, can there be anything in straight forward advertising?

To begin with, we have a first-rate article, pure tea, and the need of it is almost unprecedented. We are telling you every day what it is, and what other tea is; we are saying this in the simplest and most direct way possible. Every statement we make has been turned over and looked at a dozen times; and, we are sure of it, there is not one mis-statement in our advertisements.

Then we offer you money back if you don't like Schilling's Best.
